

A pathway to Success

Varsha Kondawar, a role model for the depressed girls, orphans and many others who face financial crisis, from a poor peasant's family in Nanded district. Her father's unfortunate sudden death, when she was only 8, had left her illiterate mother confront the crucial social-economic conditions. Being illiterate and lonely, her mother was anxiously worried about her daughter's education and upbringing. Fortunately, she came to know about the SSM. After the scrutiny, the facts and conditions, Varsha was admitted in the Anand Balgram (An Orphanage) along with her two siblings.

Along with a homely stay, SSM provided Varsha quality school education up to SSC. After schooling in 2010, she was motivated to join the Nursing course in the 'Utkarsh'- A vocational training centre, a unit of SSM. Her qualities of perseverance, hard work and consistency brought her success when she was appointed as an Assistant Nurse in a hospital at Nanded. At present she is earning Rs. 10000 per amount enabling her to shoulder the responsibility of her family.

Joining a vocational course in SSM was the turning point in her life. Thus, the timely support and guidance for the right direction, during her stay at SSM, catered all her requirements after her father's death and contributed Varsha's successful rehabilitation!
